2011 Population Estimates

(April 1, 2010 - July 1, 2011)

Robertson County

Rural Sociology, Department of Community and Leadership Development
September, 2012

For the years in between Decennial Censuses (conducted every 10 years), the U.S. Census Bureau produces official population estimates. Using data such as the number of births, deaths, and other records, the Census Bureau produces official estimates of the total population, population by age, sex, race/ethnicity, and the estimated change due to births, deaths, and net migration (called “components of population change”). This issue of Kentucky: By The Numbers provides the current estimates of how much of the estimated population change was due to births, deaths, and migration from the 2010 Census (April 1, 2010) to July 1, 2011.

While the American Community Survey includes population figures, they are NOT the official counts. To find the official population counts for your county, always use the population estimates or the 2010 Census.

For more data covering July 1, 2010 to July 1, 2011, go to the Kentucky State Data Center's Population Estimates webpage at: <http://ksdc.louisville.edu/kpr/popest/est.htm>

For the years in between Decennial Censuses (conducted every 10 years), the U.S. Census Bureau produces official population estimates. Using data such as the number of births, deaths, and other records, the Census Bureau produces official estimates of the total population, population by age, sex, race/ethnicity, and the estimated change due to births, deaths, and net migration (called “components of population change”). This issue of Kentucky: By The Numbers provides the current estimates of how much of the estimated population change was due to births, deaths, and migration from the 2010 Census (April 1, 2010) to July 1, 2011.

While the American Community Survey includes population figures, they are NOT the official counts. To find the official population counts for your county, always use the population estimates or the 2010 Census.

For the years in between Decennial Censuses (conducted every 10 years), the U.S. Census Bureau produces official population estimates. Using data such as the number of births, deaths, and other records, the Census Bureau produces official estimates of the total population, population by age, sex, race/ethnicity, and the estimated change due to births, deaths, and net migration (called “components of population change”). This issue of Kentucky: By The Numbers provides the current estimates of how much of the estimated population change was due to births, deaths, and migration from the 2010 Census (April 1, 2010) to July 1, 2011.
